

Infonic Managed Services are provided in partnership with Devigo. Devigo are experts in providing complete outsourced data solutions to a wide range of industry sectors

Outsource document management problems and costs today

The costs of owning and maintaining state of the art document management technology can be impractical for many businesses.

There are the up-front costs of purchasing servers, scanning equipment and software, on-going costs of hosting servers in a secure environment with disaster recovery backup. There are costs of scanning legacy documentation and ongoing server, network and software maintenance costs.

With Infonic Managed Services, those costs can be outsourced to an affordable, expert provider for a low monthly fee, bringing state of the art document management and workflow technology within reach of every organization.

Better document management, better cashflow management

The benefits of DM technologies are well known. These systems revolutionize businesses by enabling information to be created and deployed more easily, stored more safely and retrieved more quickly. Access to business information is improved and businesses become more effective and more profitable.

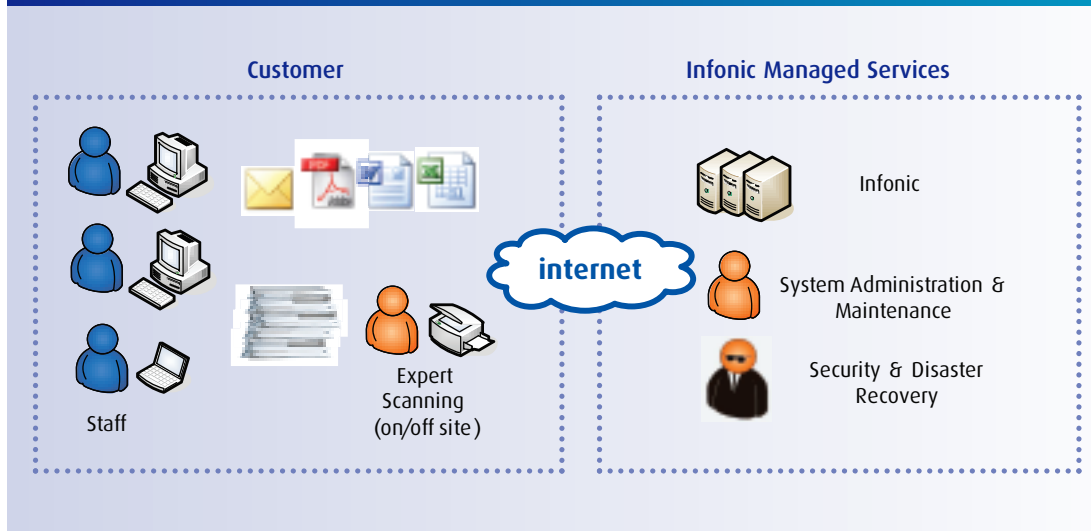

Infonic Managed Services, in partnership with Devigo, deliver secure, cost-effective document management solutions.

Managed data services allow businesses to benefit from the very best in document management and workflow technologies without having to pay large up-front costs or on-going maintenance costs.

Infonic Managed Services provide access to powerful DM technology for a fraction of an in-house installation. Managed Services eliminates the need for staff to maintain the technology. All administration and security is maintained by Infonic and Devigo.

By removing the large, up-front costs, Infonic's unique hosted solution can provide powerful Document Management services at a significantly reduced cost.
